

Anti-Bribery Policy

11.1 Introduction

According to the Law 4557/2018 as currently in force, bribery and bribe-taking fall into the category of basic offences that constitute criminal activity, for the purposes of the above law, in relation to the prevention and suppression of money laundering and terrorist financing.

The law distinguishes between three different forms of bribery (passive bribery, active bribery and bribery of a judge). Additionally, it refers to the bribery of foreign public officials and bribery of European Union officials.

The purpose of the law is the prevention and suppression of crimes of money laundering and terrorist financing, which also include the above basic offences and the protection of the financial system from risks that arise by these criminal activities. The ultimate objective of illegal trafficking of funds through the financial system is to legalize such funds. Money laundering is also understood when the activities took place in the territory of another State, in so far as they would be a main offence if they were committed in Greece and are considered criminal, in accordance with the law of that State.

11.2. Policy

Taking into consideration the above, Piraeus Financial Holdings has adopted a specific policy to prevent and deal with bribery, bribe-taking and corruption incidents between its officials and any third party.

Piraeus Financial Holdings makes clear that such practices are completely unacceptable with regard to business integrity and damage its reputation and interests. It further declares that it takes the necessary measures to prevent bribery, bribery-taking and corruption between its staff, its executives and any third party, but also applies accountability to all parties involved, should they be identified.

11.2.3 Scope

Piraeus Financial Holdings explicitly prohibits the offer or provision of any incentive for the acceptance or rendering of bribery either in cash or other goods to and from any natural or legal person or scheme or entity, wherever residing, as well as to and from any natural person or entity who holds a public office with the purpose of gaining any commercial, contractual or regulatory advantage for the Company or acquiring any personal gain, financial or otherwise, for a natural person or other persons associated with it.

The anti-bribery policy prohibits the offering/acceptance of any allurement that could lead to the personal gain or advantage either of those receiving the lure or of any other individual or entity associated with them that can affect persons who make decisions or persons connected to them.

11.2.4 Exceptions
